Markus “Sunchaser” Timberfell

Our hero! Well, sort of. He loves to play the part of the main character and has the charisma to match it, though he does tend to have a momentum issue in that he will end up building up overconfidence. The further he goes, the harder the fall. As you already have the majority of his backstory, this is mostly here for an intro.

Markus' Family

Gran'da and Gran'ma

Two of the most supportive people you will ever meet. These are his father's parents, for he never got to meet his maternal grandparents. Never adventured a day in their lives, but love to hear stories about it. Both in their 60s. Took in Markus and Joshua after their parents died. Gran'da is a goldsmith in his spare time, while Gran'ma used to be an alchemist when she was Markus' age. May be able to provide shelter in a pinch, medicine, and comfort in the event of Markus going to pieces (unlikely event). Names are Jonathan and May.

Joshua Timberfell

On Joshua's third birthday, his parents were killed by a mysterious plague. He barely remembers much during the time, but he does recall bits and pieces. Despite what Markus thinks, Joshua is remarkably well-adjusted and is simply a quiet man. He and Markus get along incredibly well, though Joshua seems to be the only person who realizes his brother is not mentally well. He's a rather gifted druid, but doesn't like the shapeshifting aspect and prefers to offer healing instead. He discovered his druidic skills as a child when he found he could speak to a horse. Markus is often most visibly weak around Joshua.

The Academy Gang

When Markus was 14, he was enrolled in a strange academy for misfit youngsters. While there, he befriended more than a few people. These are the four people closest to him.

Dimitri Renasch

Dimitri is an extremely intelligent and dedicated individual. His near-photographic memory enables him to take in a lot of detail both in investigations and in combat. When fighting, his primary method is extremely precise strikes after studying a target. If he cannot do so, he will transfer knowledge of the enemy to his allies. He's far too serious for his own good. Markus' ex-boyfriend, whom Markus regrettably cheated on. Regards Markus rather coldly, even to this day.

Accepted into the academy due to his treatment by the average person, often extremely hostile due to being perceived as a vampire. Lawful Good, won't even litter.

Bernard Ellison

Bernard is, as we can very obviously see, a cleric of Cayden Cailean. Jovial, quick to befriend everyone, and will never assume the worst in anybody without a very good reason. Prefers diplomatic means to prevent conflict rather than fighting it out, but won't shy away from a fight if it comes to it. Less of a healer, more of a buff cleric that strengthens himself in combat.

Accepted into the academy due to strange goings-on at his home. Parents accused of being Groetus fanatics, leaving him homeless if not for a direct intervention from the Headmaster. Will someday free his parents. Chaotic Good in every sense of the words.

Tybalt

Tybalt Nolastnamegiven was orphaned at a very young age, having to learn to fend for himself in the streets. A talented thief, the kangaroo only had one flaw: He was the only kangaroo in town, making it obvious when he committed crimes. Rather than be sent to a prison at age 14, he was brought to the Academy, where his skills were honed and his bad behavior came to a stop….but not until after being the one Markus cheated on Dimitri with. He still regrets that to this day, though Dimitri doesn't hold it against him.

Accepted into the academy due to an extensive criminal record. Chaotic Neutral.

Lucia Torres

Lucia is an interesting sort. Gifted in arcane magic, one might assume she is a wizard or a sorcerer. Her spells instead come in the form of being a Witch. She was first to befriend Markus at the academy and make him feel welcome, as well as was the first to get him to talk about his past. The two often shared notes on how to hide their spellcasting methods from the public eye. Incredibly studious and often doesn't pay attention to her surroundings in public places.

Accepted into the academy due to being a witch. Neutral.
